Rain or shine, snow or no snow, professional contractors demand some of the most rugged and dependable tools for their trades. Popular among contractors, Kanlan attachments are purpose built with the contractor in mind. Kanlan attachments are currently being used in a variety of places and applications from military contractors, to downtown office towers, to your everyday parking lots, sidewalks, and city streets. Seen left is Dave Kennedy from Sunshine Landscaping (Wasaga Beach, Ontario, Canada) accepting a new Kanlan 72” RTV Blade from John Valle – the account manager at Kanlan Attachments. Dave has large snow removal contracts which range from plowing snow at the Canadian Military’s Base Borden to clearing the numerous paths, parking lots, and walkways at Collingwood’s

Cranberry Resort Village in the heart of Ontario, Canada’s Ski Country. When John Valle was asked why Dave chose to buy a Kanlan attachment this was his only response: “Kanlan Attachments simply makes the most dependable and professional grade attachments you can find for your RTV. With his contracts he cannot afford to have any down-time due to equipment error; that’s why he went with the Kanlan”.

Kanlan Attachments isn’t just about plows for RTV’s; they also manufacture countless other attachments for utility tractors, compact articulating tractors, and of course Kubota RTV’s. Their product line includes a very popular line of sweepers including a unique sweeper for the RTV. The sweeper simply mounts to the Kanlan RTV mount and is powered through the RTV’s onboard hydraulic pump, which is truly unique to the RTV – no other brand of UTV has these capabilities. These units are used in a variety of applications from light snow removal, to dethatching grass, to simply moving any unwanted material. When a plow or sweeper is coupled to one of Kanlan’s RTV spreaders you result in having one unbelievable snow fighting machine.

Kanlan has been around since the 1980’s and has only had one focus – to supply the most durable and dependable snow fighting and spring cleanup attachments on the market. This is all evident on Kanlan’s new website which features product videos, pictures, and literature about their entire product line. To visit them online simply go to www.kanlan.ca; and make sure to visit the video section – you are bound to be amazed!
